2. Course Registration

Course registration must be completed on TWINS during the designated registration period. For Fall AB courses, the deadline is Tuesday, October 17. After this date, you are not allowed to cancel any course registration.

3. Language courses

Special Japanese language courses are offered for PEPP scholars in the fall semester of the first year and the spring semester of the second year. You are allocated to the class depending on your Japanese language background. In principle, attendance is mandatory.

4. Lunch seminar

As part of Research Workshop I, II, and III, we hold a lunch seminar on Monday in the 3rd period (11:40~) in module AB each semester. Lunch seminar is a key forum for students to present, exchange, and discuss their research ideas. All students at various stages present their research work and discuss others' works. Attendance is mandatory. Specific instructions and schedule will be given at the beginning of each semester. Your goal in the first year's lunch seminar is to develop a good research proposal for your master thesis, based on which your advisors are determined (see 6. Advisors).

5. Master thesis

As part of the requirements for earning an M.A. in Economics, students are required to submit and successfully defend a master thesis. A complete draft must be submitted mid-November in the second year, followed by a preliminary oral defense later in the same month. A final copy must be submitted in December, followed by a final oral defense in mid-January. Specific instructions and schedule will be announced in the second year.

6. Advisors

In the first year, each student is randomly assigned an advisor for an administrative purpose. Your first-year advisor does not supervise your research. To find advisors for your thesis research is your responsibility. Your goal in the first year is to find ‘good’ advisors while doing course works, contributing to lunch seminars, and interacting with professors.

In January, you are required to submit the names of your main advisor and two sub-advisors of your choice along with your research proposal. You must choose a main advisor from the PEPP Economics faculty. Sub-advisors are also commonly chosen from them. If you prefer to choose other sub-advisors, you should ask program officer about the rules and necessary procedures. (You need to receive professors’ prior approval).

We determine each student’s advisors based on students’ research interests/projects and their academic performance in the first year (the balance of advising duties among faculty members is another factor considered). Students may be assigned advisors other than their choice. In the case where your academic performance is not satisfactory to continue in the second year of your master program, no advisors will be assigned to you; that means you cannot submit a master thesis in your second year.

7. Grades

Each grade signifies the following score points:

Grade	Point
A+	90~100
A	80~89
B	70~79
C	60~69
D	59 and under * Means “failed” and no credit is provided. * Not shown on the official transcript

8. Administration

If you have any questions regarding the program, contact Mai Watanabe, a program officer of PEPP. Most announcements are made via emails.
