

List of Subjects Currently Offered as of November, 2017

Program Common Course
Basic Courses	Social Development I Research Methods and Academic Writing I Public Policy and Management
Elective Basic Courses	Introductory Statistics Introductory Macroeconomics Japanese Economy Principle of Development Politics of Development International Public Policy and Governance Intermediate Microeconomics Data Management

Economics Course
Basic Courses	Microeconomics Econometrics I, II Research Workshop for Economics I, II, III Research Project for Economics I, II
Elective Courses	Macroeconomics Public Economics Development Economics International Trade International Finance and Policy Applied Time Series Analysis International Development I Economics of Latin America I Economies of East and Southeast Asia I Policies of Education and Human Capital Formation Class Agricultural and Rural Development Applied Microeconomics Microfinance and Public Policy Introduction to Health Service Research Challenges of Global Aging Health Economics Introduction to Environmental Policy Internship I, II Fieldwork Project I, II

*From enrollment in October 2018, the Course in Public Policy will no longer be offered. Not all subjects below will be offered from AY2018 onward.

Public Policy Course*
Basic Courses	Technology and Media in Public Policy IIA, IIB Research Workshop for Public Policy I, II, III Research Project for Public Policy I, II
Elective Courses	Public Policy V International Social Policy I Management of International Public Policy Comparative Policy Norms I Gender and Society International Relations in Southeast Asia II International Relations in Europe I Law and Governance The Politics of Japan IA, IB Basics of American Constitution IIB Research Methods and Academic Writing II International Information Society IA, IB Special Lecture on Disability Sciences Globalization and Development Internship I, II Fieldwork Project I, II